RFP Questions from Potential Bidders – as at July 17, 2009

Q: We would like to respectfully request a one week extension to the proposal deadline (to July 28th, 2009). Given the time of year and staff vacation schedules, we would like to request the extension to enable full input from all members of our proposed team, including experts in the area of extended producer responsibility and performance measurement.

- *An extension from the original RFP for submissions has already been granted to all bidders. Allowing for a further extension could begin to impact the expected timelines for the delivery of the final report (see below). July 21st @ 5pm EST remains as the revised deadline for submission of bids.

Q: Could you please provide the timelines within which the work described in the RFP must be completed?

- A final draft report which would be available for each of the programs to take to their Board of Directors for review would need to be ready within the first quarter of 2010.
